Dear Friends,

As summer slowly winds down, I wanted to give you an update on my work as the representative in the 148th Legislative District. In this newsletter, I have provided the results of the poll from my winter newsletter, information on the PA Property Tax/Rent Rebate Program, an invitation to veterans for my Veterans Tribute Event, and more. However, I also wanted to include a quick state budget recap.

As you know, the legislature is required to pass a budget for our commonwealth by June 30. This year the budget deadline passed without a signed budget until July 10. Unfortunately, the budget relied on gimmicks and stop-gap measures to be balanced. There may be more news on the budget following August’s session so stay tuned.

Even before work began on the budget, the setting was bleak. Corporate tax breaks that promised us prosperity and new jobs instead earned Pennsylvania a dismal ranking of 46th in job creation among states. At one time we ranked as high as seventh. While other states that faced similar challenges as Pennsylvania during the “Great Recession” are enjoying budget surpluses, we instead are one of 11 states still lagging behind with deficits. As June began and revenue collections were reported, Pennsylvania faced a $1.5 billion gap to meet its obligations.

While many options such as taxing natural gas drillers and smokeless tobacco, or opting in to Medicaid expansion, were available to add revenue to help cover the shortfall, the majority party and its governor refused these common-sense opportunities. Instead, they opted for more cuts and one-time fund transfers — while also expanding natural gas drilling in our state forest lands.

I voted against this budget because of its over-reliance on $700 million in unsustainable revenue shifts that raid funds such as those dedicated to the elderly or the environment. Due to this irresponsible strategy, this budget sets the stage for a potential $3 billion budget deficit next year; this is something I could not, in good conscience, support. While this was not an ideal budget, I will continue to work with my colleagues on both sides to reverse this troublesome trend, by focusing on preserving our commonwealth’s assets and advancing common-sense priorities that benefit working families.

I hope you find this newsletter helpful and informative. As always, if you have any questions on these or any other state-related issues, feel free to reach out at any time. I welcome your questions and input.

Warmest Regards,

Marriage equality a reality, but much work yet to be done

As you may know, Pennsylvania’s ban on same-sex marriages was recently ruled unconstitutional by U.S. District Judge John Jones. I joined the fight on this issue last year by co-sponsoring the marriage equality bill, House Bill 1886, introduced by my colleagues, state Reps. Brian Sims and Steve McCarter. I would have been pleased to cast a vote in support of this needed legislation, if it had been brought up for a vote. I was heartened by the end result provided by the courts. While marriage equality is a reality, there is still much work to be done in the legislature to ensure equality for LGBT residents of Pennsylvania:

- House Bill 300: This bill would end discrimination for LGBT Pennsylvanians in housing, employment, and accommodations. All 26 of Pennsylvania’s Fortune 500 companies already include LGBT employees in their non-discrimination provisions because they know that quality workers are good for business, regardless of their sexual orientation, race, or creed. It is time to pass this bill so that all Pennsylvanians have equal protection under the law.

- House Bill 1811: This legislation would put an end to harmful “gay conversion” therapy. While the American Psychological Association removed homosexuality’s classification as a disorder in 1973, sadly, “gay conversion” therapy is still practiced by some in Pennsylvania. Experts note that this therapy is extremely harmful, causing depression, withdrawal, and suicidal thoughts and actions.

The Valley Forge Military Academy & College (VFMAC) has a renowned tradition of training valorous and well-rounded men and women for service in our Armed Forces. To help further that tradition, Act 29 of 2012 formally established an appointment process for each legislator to send a student from their legislative district under scholarship to the college. To ensure compliance with the State Ethics Act, the law allows each legislator to set up a committee to receive and review student applications for appointment to the college.

As a way to bridge previous generations of veterans with the prospective cadets, I have invited local veterans to serve on this committee to help select the scholarship nominee from the 148th Legislative District. Committee members, subject to guidelines from the State Ethics Commission, would accept applications, interview applicants, and ultimately recommend the best candidate and first alternate. I am looking for a few more veterans willing to serve in this capacity and ask that those interested should send a letter of interest to my Constituhocken office before Oct. 1. Preference for service on this committee will be given to veterans with experience in education or public service.

I look forward to forming this committee and helping students achieve their goals.
