About Fort Washington State Park

Rich in modern recreational facilities and historical significance, Fort Washington blossoms with flowering dogwood in the spring. The park takes its name from the temporary fort built by George Washington's troops in the fall of 1777, before heading to Valley Forge. The park is popular with hikers and picnickers. Birders enjoy the seasonal migration of raptors from the Observation Deck.

Over half a million people visit Fort Washington State Park each year. It is with the assistance of volunteers (like you!) that the park is able to maintain its natural beauty and the wonderful outdoor recreation opportunities it provides.

Volunteer Opportunities

What is the Friends Group?

The Friends of Fort Washington State Park is a group of dedicated volunteers who regularly do Conservation projects at Fort Washington State Park.

From planting and caring for trees, to maintaining the butterfly garden, to picking up litter along the park's trails, the Friends Group is involved in all sorts of projects to keep Fort Washington State Park a beautiful and enjoyable place for recreation and relaxation.

When do they meet?

The Friends Group currently meets on Monday mornings to discuss business and plan for the week, and on Wednesday mornings to work on their projects. However, we are planning on restructuring the schedule and adding a second slot of time to work on projects, perhaps in the later afternoons or on weekends, in order to make the Friends Group more accessible to people with a variety of schedules.

How can I join (or get more information)?

Email

FriendsOfFortWashingtonSP@gmail.com

If you're interested in joining the Friends of Fort Washington, be sure to specify in your email what time/day would be best for you to work on projects. Whether the second meeting time is officially set to weekends or to weekday afternoons depends largely on which one is most convenient for the most people.
