Season of Giving in the 192nd

Overbrook Park Turkey Give-Away

Turkey Give-Aways will be held at the John Barry Elementary School, the Granahan Playground, the Overbrook Elementary School, and the Overbrook Library. These give-away events will include meals for all ages and food for families in need. Turkey distributions will begin on Thanksgiving Day and continue throughout the holiday season.

Overbrook Park Toy Give-Away

The toy giveaway at Overbrook Park will take place on Saturday, December 1, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This event will provide toys and games for children of all ages. Donations of toys and games are welcome, and we encourage community members to participate in the spirit of giving.

Overbrook Park Book Bag Give-Away with Barry Elementary School

The book bag give-away event will be held at Barry Elementary School on Saturday, December 8, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This event will provide free school supplies to children in need. Donations of school supplies are welcome, and we encourage community members to participate in the spirit of giving.

Overbrook Park Fall Shredding Events

The shredding events will be held on Saturday, October 6, and Saturday, November 3, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Granahan Playground and the Overbrook Elementary School. These events will provide a safe and secure way to dispose of sensitive documents, such as financial statements and medical records. Donations of documents are welcome, and we encourage community members to participate in the spirit of giving.

Overbrook Park Civic Association:

The Overbrook Park Civic Association is an active community group that works to improve the quality of life for its residents. The association sponsors many events throughout the year, including the Toy Give-Away, the Fall Shredding Events, and the Turkey Give-Aways. The association is always looking for volunteers to help with its events and activities.

Overbrook Park Library:

The Overbrook Park Library is a vital community resource that provides a range of services, including access to books, computers, and the internet. The library is open to all community members and welcomes all to its doors. The library is located at 5827 Lancaster Ave., Philadelphia, PA 19121.

MORGAN CEPHAS

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

192ND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

5827 Lancaster Ave. • Philadelphia, PA 19121 • (215) 879-6625 • Fax: (215) 879-6568

103-A East Wing • P.O. Box 202192 • Harrisburg, PA 17120-2192 • (717) 783-2192 • Fax: (717) 787-2960

Rent Rebate

Constituent Reports

CONCESSIONS: Aggi & Odel’s Adult Services, Agricultural & Rural Affairs, Gaming Oversight, Labor & Industry, Liquor Law, Pennsylvania Legislative Black Caucus, Philadelphia County Delegation

Winter 2018

Upcoming Events Mark your calendar:

State of the 192nd Town Hall

Thursday, Feb. 15, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.
Overbrook Park Church of Christ

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

RACP Grant Funding

Tuesday, Mar. 13, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.
Wynnefield Branch Library, 5325 Overbrook Ave.

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

State of the District

Thursday, Mar. 22, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.
Stop & Go Event at 82nd Street

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

RACP Grant Funding

Tuesday, Apr. 24, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.
Overbrook Park Civic Association

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

Stop & Go recap

Thursday, May 9, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.
Many Events to Attend

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

BY THE NUMBERS

3,763 Constituent Services

2,668 Constituent Cases

176 Philly 311 Reports

96 SEPTA Senior IDs

2,995 Event Attendees

116 Property Tax/ Rent Rebate

5921 Lancaster Ave. • Philadelphia, PA 19151 • (215) 879-6625 • Fax: (215) 879-6568

SEPTA

96

Liquor Control, Pennsylvania Legislative Black Caucus, Philadelphia County Delegation

CONCESSIONS: Aggi & Odel’s Adult Services, Agricultural & Rural Affairs, Gaming Oversight, Labor & Industry, Liquor Law, Pennsylvania Legislative Black Caucus, Philadelphia County Delegation

Winter 2018

Dear Neighbor,

My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Pennsylvania at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put families at jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back against unfair sexual harassment through the #MeToo movement.

Given this challenging environment, I have worked and will remain committed throughout my second year to fight for the best interest of our families.

Over this past year together, we have made substantial strides in leading the 192nd District in a positive direction. With the district consisting of a series of “Middle Neighborhoods,” we worked tirelessly to ensure policies addressed our quality-of-life concerns, and pursued investments from the state and local level to improve our public spaces.

As a team, we sounded the alarm about the dangers of “stop-and-frisk,” and contributed to the birth of a new law aimed at helping the state crack down on these nuisance establishments. Given the ongoing outcry regarding sexual harassment, a so-called “equal rights amendment” that would provide our local police with the authority to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind the bar, our girls interested in going into the trades and those workers experiencing sexual harassment beyond the bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those workers experiencing sexual harassment.

We listened to our constituents and issued a call to action in Harrisburg that generated a strong response from elected leaders.

This year, we will continue to listen and support our constituents. When you have a concern or an idea, we encourage you to reach out to my office. We are looking forward to ensuring these dollars continue to flow into the network of neighborhood libraries located throughout Philadelphia. Also, the Library\’s renovation funding will be used for interior renovations, exterior repairs, technology upgrades, new furniture, fixtures, and equipment and mechanical upgrades. RACP is administered by the Office of the Budget for the acquisition and construction of regional economic, cultural, civic, recreational, and historical improvement projects. I am locking forward to ensuring these dollars continue to flow through the 192nd so we can continue to build on our assets.

Like us on Facebook – @RepCephas

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

Rose Playground, 1300 N. 75th St.

Saturday, April 21, 10 a.m. – 1 p.m.

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

Stop & Go recap

Thursday, May 9, 6 p.m. – 8 p.m.

Many Events to Attend

Please call Dawn to RSVP 215-879-6625

Thank you for the opportunity to serve you as your State Representative and continue making progress in our neighborhood.
Cephas joins Gov. Tom Wolf’s historic signing of stop-and-go legislation

PLBC’s Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee launches listening tour, visits Pa. correctional facility

Gun locks in $300K state grant to improve Granahan Park

Cephas works across the aisle to curtail squatter issues in Pa.

Gun locks with Captain Stanford and the 13th Police District

Housing Seminar with the Barristers

Don’t miss out! Opt in to stay informed

This past year, I joined my colleagues in Harrisburg that put you first. Your state representative, I’m committed to making decisions in Harrisburg in your best interest.

Cephas joins Gov. Tom Wolf’s historic signing of stop-and-go legislation

Stop-and-gos are not only notorious for attracting crime and promoting criminal activity, they continuously scare off future businesses, which prevents our great community from growing both economically and residually.

My fight against so-called “stop-and-go” is far from over. Our efforts to combat these nuisance businesses are results-oriented. As a member of the Philadelphia Delegation, Gov. Tom Wolf signed legislation allowing the state to better crack down on these dangerous businesses.

Before the PLBC regulations happened when an establishment applied for a license, the PLCB would suspend the license renewal process every two years. Now, the PLCB can deny the authority to do business or renew a license if the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board finds that an establishment is not meeting the requirements of the Liquor Code. Stop-and-gos are not only notorious for attracting crime and promoting criminal activity, they continuously scare off future businesses, which prevents our great community from growing both economically and residually.

We are moving in the right direction. This year, as a member of the House Liquor Control Committee, I was able to secure two successful wins.

Several neighborhoods across Philadelphia have been plagued by squatting issues, and we successfully built bi-partisan support for legislation geared towards cracking down on illegal trespassers.

In the near future, I will host a public policy hearing to give you a chance to voice your thoughts and opinions.

We need your help to address these issues.

Several neighborhoods across Philadelphia have been plagued by squatting issues, and we successfully built bi-partisan support for legislation geared towards cracking down on illegal trespassers.

In the near future, I will host a public policy hearing to give you a chance to voice your thoughts and opinions.

We need your help to address these issues.

Several neighborhoods across Philadelphia have been plagued by squatting issues, and we successfully built bi-partisan support for legislation geared towards cracking down on illegal trespassers.

In the near future, I will host a public policy hearing to give you a chance to voice your thoughts and opinions.

We need your help to address these issues.
We fought back against a Republican proposal to nearly double the state’s hotel tax from 6 to 10 percent, which would have resulted in Pennsylvania having one of the highest combined state and city hotel taxes in the country. This would have been detrimental to business, and we fought back.

Standing together we were also able to defeat bad ideas that would have had a negative impact on Philadelphia:

• We fought hard against a resolution opposed by nearly 60,000 Philadelphians to nearly double the local hotel tax from 6 to 10 percent, which would have resulted in Philadelphia having one of the highest combined state and city hotel taxes in the country. This would have been detrimental to business, and we fought back.

• We helped push the brakes on video gaming terminals from being installed in local “hot and got.” We knew not doing so would be a recipe for disaster by promoting gambling, attracting crime and ultimately putting your life at risk.

• There are safer and smarter ways to bring in constant revenue for the state that we will continue fighting for in 2018, including raising the minimum wage and making sure we pay natural gas drillers, also known as severance taxes.

• Moving forward, we need to change the way we fund education in Harrisburg. No longer can we settle a pass the buck strategy that does not spend and not have a way to pay for it. One of the consequences is a credit downgrade for the state that I will continue fighting for in 2018, and I am committed to fighting for resources to our state-related universities, like Temple and Penn State, to avoid tuition increases for in-state students;

We helped push the brakes on video gaming terminals from being installed in local neighborhoods. They continuously scare off future potential hotel guests. We talk about growing our economy in Philadelphia, and it seems like we are not making any strides to do so. We need to keep fighting to stop this practice.

Working Pennsylvanians and their families deserve better. As a group, we are focusing on several issues, including job creation, affirmative action and workforce development in minority- and nontraditional industries, economic prosperity, health and wellness, navigating the criminal justice system, and women’s empowerment and development.

Over the past several months, the subcommittee has taken multiple tours with area labor union training centers and hosted a female minority-business owner roundtable. In November, the House Democratic Policy Committee and the PLCB took a tour of the State Correctional Institution at Muncy. Joined by inmates, along with advocacy and community-based organizations, we discussed policy initiatives aimed at reducing recidivism rates, providing school-to-prison prevention programs, and improving conditions for incarcerated women.

As we head into our final months, our top priority is to pass a bill—remedial legislation after L.S.S. Ellis, Elizabeth Warren and Cory Booker’s “Dignity for Incarcerated Women Act.” This legislation focuses on reforms in the prison system to ensure proper living conditions.

The legislative package at issue includes:

• Break free from the prison pipeline
• Allow inmates who are primary caretakers a free weekly phone call
• End alternative sentencing for inmates who have given sworn testimony
• Require the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency to have funds dedicated to the Department of Education for successful reentry
• Require incarcerated parents who are primary caretakers and serving a sentence in prison to be allowed to see their children

With more than a million women behind bars or under the control of the criminal justice system, they remain the fastest-growing segment of the prison population, disproportionate to the rate of men since 1980.

According to the American Civil Liberties Union, Women and Girls of Color are significantly overrepresented in the criminal justice system, with African American women representing 30 percent and Hispanic women representing 30 percent.

Given these startling statistics, it remains critical that over the next several months we focus on several issues, including education attainment and workforce development in male- and female-focused areas, women’s empowerment and development.

Patching up legislative holes from the past and paying you money. We spoke out against GOP members wanting to and a long-time sales tax exemption for commercial storage that would have cost taxpayers $221 million in state revenue for the 2018-19 fiscal year.

Moving forward, we need to change the way we fund education in Harrisburg. No longer can we settle a pass the buck strategy that does not spend and not have a way to pay for it. One of the consequences is a credit downgrade for the state.
We fought back against a Republican proposal to nearly double the state’s hotel tax from 6 to 11 percent, which would have had a negative impact on Philadelphians. Standing together we were also able to defeat bad ideas that would have discouraged businesses from investing in Philadelphia.

Working Pennsylvanians and their families deserve better. As your state representative, I’m committed to making decisions in Harrisburg that put you first.

2017-18 budget recap

The 2017-18 budget is set, and as a member of the Philadelphia Delegation, I’m proud of the victories we were able to bring home for our constituents. including raising the minimum wage and enacting a tax on natural gas drillers, also known as a severance tax. There are safer and smarter ways to bring in consistent business in Harrisburg. No longer can we solely pass a plan to cut taxes to benefit the wealthy and leave behind the working families of the commonwealth, where taxpayers end up being the victims.

In addition, the 2017-18 budget invests $50 million into the 19th Police District and other local law enforcement initiatives, including $22 million to improve the police’s ability to track data and take preventative measures for families who need help. This past year, I joined my colleagues in co-sponsoring H.B. 1931, which would require the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency to have law enforcement officers who have been trained in mental health premade to respond to a crisis and ensure the well-being of the community.

As the new year unfolds, my goal for 2018 will be to introduce a bill removing the private contractor who is responsible for the Delaware River’s water quality. We need to address this systematically and address the causes of pollution before we can move forward with the pipeline.

Gun locks with Captain Stanford and the 13th Police District

I am always eager to find new ways to improve and provide ease to our community, which is why I am thrilled to find a grant to improve Gunner Park. Working with the Philadelphia Parks and Recreation Department, the 13th Police District, the State Police, the U.S. Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, and the Philadelphia Department of Housing and Community Development, we were able to secure a $300,000 state grant to improve Gunner Park in the 13th Police District.

Housing Seminar with the Barristers

Special thank you to the Barristers’ Association of Philadelphia, Inc. for hosting a Free Housing Legal Clinic for area residents and neighbors.

Don’t miss out! Opt in to stay informed

If you’re not already signed up, starting in mid-March, due to a house rule, I will no longer be able to contact you electronically. To ensure we capably keep you informed, please sign up for my email list. Don’t miss out on valuable updates, services, news about the state budget and more, start by going to my website and entering your info. You’ll have to do it twice as I haven’t done so since I’ve been in office.

---

Ceaphs works across the aisle to curtail squatter issues in Pa.

Several neighborhoods across Pa. have been hit by an uptick in trespassers breaking into unoccupied homes, making it easy for squatters and tenants. These incidents have broad safety and economic implications. A group of stakeholders to ensure a voice is given to the victims. As a group, we are focusing on several fronts to ensure all stakeholders’ enforcement adherence and withdrawal development in non-remediated or non-traditional industries, economically prosperity, health and wellness, navigating the criminal justice system, and women’s empowerment and development.

Over the past several months, the subcommittee has taken numerous tours with area law enforcement training centers and hosted a female minority business conference. In November, I met with the House Democratic Policy Committee and the PLCB for a tour of the State Correctional Institution at SCI Phoenixville. Along with my colleagues and community-based organizations, we discussed policy initiatives aimed at reducing incarceration rates, closing the prison population gap among school-to-prison populations and improving conditions for incarcerated women.

As part of our tour, we were able to propose a bill, removed after L.S. Sen. Elizabeth Warren and Cory Booker’s “Urgency for Incarcerated Women Act” on focusing on reforming the prison system to ensure proper living conditions.

The legislative package aims to:
- Establish a prison redesign program
- Allow inmates who are primary caretakers a free weekly phone call
- Permit alternative sentencing for inmates who have gainfully employed
- Require the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency to have mandatory data and reporting about women to be published and shared
- Require incarcerated parents who are primary caretakers and serving a sentence of one year or less are given alternative sentences

With more than a million women behind bars and under the control of the criminal justice system, they remain the fastest-growing segment of the prison population and are doubling the rate of their incarceration.

According to the American Civil Liberties Union, Women and Girls of Color are disproportionately represented in the criminal justice system, with African-American women representing 30 percent and Hispanic women representing 19 percent of all women in jail.

Given these startling statistics, it remains critical that over the next several months, we continue our efforts to ensure Women and Girls of Color are a voice in the legislative process. Over the past several months, the subcommittee has taken multiple tours and development.

---

PLBC’s Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee launches listening tour, visits Pa. correctional facility

Since becoming Chair of the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee, Assemblywoman侨侨, in partnership with the Pennsylvania Legislative Black Caucus, has worked alongside my colleagues to ensure that every group of stakeholders to ensure a voice is given to the victims. As a group, we are focusing on several fronts to ensure all stakeholders’ enforcement adherence and withdrawal development in non-remediated or non-traditional industries, economically prosperity, health and wellness, navigating the criminal justice system, and women’s empowerment and development.

---

Cephas joins Gov. Tom Wolf’s historic signing of stop-and-go legislation

My fight against so-called “stop-and-go” is far from over. Our efforts to combat these nuisance businesses are echoed by Governor Tom Wolf. Wishing legislation allowing the state to better crack down on these dangerous businesses.

Under the new law, if the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board finds that a business is meeting the seeing, square footage, food or health requirements under the state Liquor Code, the PLCB will have the authority to do an inspection of the establishment applied for a liquor license or during their normal operations. The PLCB can suspend the license immediately.

By requiring establishment owners to meet the seating, square footage, food or health requirements under the state Liquor Code, Pennsylvania law enforcement officers would have the authority to do an inspection of the establishment applied for a liquor license or during their normal operations. The PLCB can suspend the license immediately.

---

Passing legislation to provide resources to youth who have been arrested

States have been detrimental to tourism and ended up costing you combined state and city hotel taxes in the country. This would double the state’s hotel tax from 6 to 11 percent, which would have had a negative impact on Philadelphians. Standing together we were also able to defeat bad ideas that would have had a negative impact on tourism.

Since becoming Chair of the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee, Assemblywoman侨侨, in partnership with the Pennsylvania Legislative Black Caucus, has worked alongside my colleagues to ensure that every group of stakeholders to ensure a voice is given to the victims. As a group, we are focusing on several fronts to ensure all stakeholders’ enforcement adherence and withdrawal development in non-remediated or non-traditional industries, economically prosperity, health and wellness, navigating the criminal justice system, and women’s empowerment and development.

---

Cephas works across the aisle to curtail squatter issues in Pa.

Several neighborhoods across Pa. have been hit by an uptick in trespassers breaking into unoccupied homes, making it easy for squatters and tenants. These incidents have broad safety and economic implications. A group of stakeholders to ensure a voice is given to the victims. As a group, we are focusing on several fronts to ensure all stakeholders’ enforcement adherence and withdrawal development in non-remediated or non-traditional industries, economically prosperity, health and wellness, navigating the criminal justice system, and women’s empowerment and development.

---

2017-18 budget recap

The 2017-18 budget is set, and as a member of the Philadelphia Delegation, I’m proud of the victories we were able to bring home for our constituents. including raising the minimum wage and enacting a tax on natural gas drillers, also known as a severance tax. There are safer and smarter ways to bring in consistent business in Harrisburg. No longer can we solely pass a plan to cut taxes to benefit the wealthy and leave behind the working families of the commonwealth, where taxpayers end up being the victims.

In addition, the 2017-18 budget invests $50 million into the 19th Police District and other local law enforcement initiatives, including $22 million to improve the police’s ability to track data and take preventative measures for families who need help. This past year, I joined my colleagues in co-sponsoring H.B. 1931, which would require the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency to have law enforcement officers who have been trained in mental health premade to respond to a crisis and ensure the well-being of the community.

As the new year unfolds, my goal for 2018 will be to introduce a bill removing the private contractor who is responsible for the Delaware River’s water quality. We need to address this systematically and address the causes of pollution before we can move forward with the pipeline.

---

Stephanie Cephas

State Representative for the 19th District of Philadelphia

For questions or more information, please contact my office at 215-787-4553 or email me at Rep.Cephas@pahouse.net.

If you’re not already signed up, starting in mid-March, due to a house rule, I will no longer be able to contact you electronically. To ensure we capably keep you informed, please sign up for my email list. Don’t miss out on valuable updates, services, news about the state budget and more, start by going to my website and entering your info. You’ll have to do it twice as I haven’t done so since I’ve been in office.
Cephas announces critical funding for Overbrook Library in the Overbrook Park Community

In 2015, the Overbrook Park community was forced to see its library doors close for several months, due to the need to improve our public spaces. And, for the first time in a generation, the state provided critical funding for the improvement of our neighborhoods. Over this past year together, we have made substantial strides in leading the 192nd District in a positive direction, according to the Network of Neighborhood Libraries located throughout Philadelphia. The RACP funding will be used for interior renovations, exterior repairs, technology upgrades, new furniture, fixtures, and equipment and mechanical upgrades. RACP is administered by the Office of the Budget for the acquisition of local projects, which is the plan to renovate and modernize the network of neighborhood libraries located throughout Philadelphia.

The library will receive renovations and repairs as part of the Free Library of Philadelphia’s 21st Century Libraries Initiative, which is the plan to renovate and modernize the network of neighborhood libraries located throughout the Free Library of Philadelphia’s 21st Century Libraries Initiative. Without this assistance from the Network of Neighborhood Libraries, the library would not have been able to open its doors in the next few months, due to the need to improve our public spaces. The library will receive renovations and repairs as part of the Free Library of Philadelphia’s 21st Century Libraries Initiative.

Over the years, the Overbrook library has provided the Overbrook community with a safe space to create, grow and enjoy a variety of reading and learning opportunities. Since moving into our new office, my staff has been working around the clock, assisting residents with issues and connecting them with useful state resources. Over the past year, we have assisted over 500 seniors with SEPTA IDs, Property Tax/Rent Rebate, and fruits and vegetables vouchers.

Now, it’s time we look towards the future. Moving forward, you can count on me to echo our Plan for PA that demands putting Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement. My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement.

MORGAN CEPHAS
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
192ND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

Dear Neighbor,

My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement. My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement.

Since moving into our new office, my staff has been working around the clock, assisting residents with issues and connecting them with useful state resources. Over the past year, we have assisted more than 5,000 constituents with critical services connected to 2,000 people to outreach events and assisted over 300 seniors with SEPTA IDs, Property Tax/Rent Rebate, and fruits and vegetables vouchers.

Now, it’s time we look towards the future. Moving forward, you can count on me to echo our Plan for PA that demands putting Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement. My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Pennsylvanians at risk, watched Washington, D.C. make every effort to put parties in jeopardy by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back. Women worked to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from properties, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together, we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to end sexual harassment beyond the #MeToo movement.

Morgan Cephas
Cephas announces critical funding for Overbrook Library in the 192nd Pennsylvania Legislature

In 2015, the Overbrook Park community was forced to see its public library close for several months due to a need for serious repairs. As a result, mobile library services were offered during inconvenient times throughout the fall months. Over the years, the Overbrook library has provided the Overbrook Park community with a safe place to create strong bonds for the neighborhood. It continues to serve as a location for after-school programs, meeting space and a location for seniors and area residents to receive critical services. Given the role the library plays in building our community, it is with great pleasure that we secured a $1.25 million grant from the state Redevelopment Assistance Capital Program (RACP) to provide interior renovations, exterior repairs, technology upgrades, new furniture, fixtures, and equipment and mechanical upgrades. RACP is administered by the Office of the Budget for the acquisition of noncapital economic, cultural, civic, recreational, and historical improvement projects. I am locking forward to ensuring these dollars continue to flow through the 192nd so we can continue to build on our assets.

State Funding

Overbrook Park Library

Overbrook Park

Turkey Give-Away

Overbrook Park Church of Christ

Toy Give-Away

Overbrook Park Civic Association

Turkey Give-Away

Overbrook Park Elementary School

Turkey Give-Away

Rose Playground

State of the 192nd

Philadelphia, PA 19131 • (215) 879-6825 • Fax: (215) 879-2656

Upcoming Events

Mark your calendar!

State of the 192nd Town Hall

Thursday, Feb. 15, 7-9 p.m.
Overbrook Park Church of Christ

Town Hall in the 192nd

First Uniting Property

Second Uniting Property

Spring Cleanup & Shredding Event

State Representative

MORGAN CEPHAS

103-A East Wing • P.O. Box 202192 • Harrisburg, PA 17120-2192 • (717) 783-2192 • Fax: (717) 787-2960

State Representative

MORGAN CEPHAS

5827 Lancaster Ave. • Philadelphia, PA 19131 • (215) 879-6825 • Fax: (215) 879-2656

Dear Neighbor,

My first year in office is officially in the books. During this past year, we saw a budget stalemate in Harrisburg that put Philadelphians at risk, watching Washington, D.C. make every effort to put together a budget by threatening their health care and heard from women who fought back against sexual harassment through the #MeToo movement. Given this challenging environment, I have worked and will remain committed throughout my second year to fight for the best interest of our families. Over this past year together, we have made substantial strides in leading the 192nd District in a positive direction. With the district consisting of a series of “Middle Neighborhoods,” working tirelessly to ensure policies enacted addressed our quality-of-life concerns, and pursued investments from the state and local level to improve our public spaces.

As a team, we sounded the alarm about the dangers of “stop-and-gos,” and contributed to the birth of a new bill aimed at helping the state crack down on these nuisance establishments. Given the ongoing outcry regarding sexual harassment, I co-sponsored legislation with my colleagues that would provide our local police district the authority to remove illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes. Together we are working through the Women and Girls of Color Subcommittee to ensure there is a voice for minority-owned businesses, women behind bars, our girls interested in going into the trades and those working to remove sexual harassment beyond the political, health care, and entertainment industries.

Lastly, hearing your stories about illegal trespassers, known as “squatters,” from unoccupied homes, we secured over $1 million in state funding to go towards existing radiation, citation voids, and construction of regional economic, cultural, civic, recreational, and historical improvement projects. I am locking forward to ensuring these dollars continue to flow through the 192nd so we can continue to build on our assets.

My first year in office has been working and fighting to make Philadelphia a better, safer and more welcoming place for all of our residents. Our team has worked hard to serve our constituents and the best interest of our families. Over the past year, we have provided more than 3,000 constituents with critical services connected to 2,000 people to outreach events and assisted over 500 seniors with SEPTA IDs, Property Tax/Rent Rebates, and fruits and vegetables vouchers.

Now, it’s time we look towards the future. Moving forward, you can count on me to echo our Plan FPA that demands pushing people first by fighting for good-paying jobs, equally across all industries, quality of education for our youth, building our economy system that helps economic growth across the commonwealth. Over the next several months, our office will be hosting a series of events that will continue connecting residents to critical services, information and state resources. Read on to learn about my actions in Harrisburg to save you money, how we are designing smart funding into the district, and where you can find me and my staff as we continue making progress in our neighborhoods.

#MeToo

Morgan Cephas